Prof. Hyunhyub Ko is currently an associate professor in Energy and Chemical Engineering at Ulsan National Institute of Science and Technology (UNIST). He received his Ph.D. in Materials Science and Engineering from Georgia Institute of Technology in 2008, M.S. in Materials Science and Engineering from Iowa State University in 2004, M.S. in Chemical Engineering from Yonsei University in 2001, and B.S. in Chemical Engineering from Chung-Ang University in 1999. From 2008 to 2010, he worked at University of California, Berkeley as a postdoctoral fellow in the department of Electrical Engineering and Computer Sciences. In July 2010, he joined the UNIST as an assistant professor. His research interests are in the area of functional nanomaterials for electronics, sensors, and energy. He has published over 76 peer-reviewed journals.
